JENNIE GARVIN TAKEN TO STATE FARM
First Woman From Norwich to Be Committed to New State Farm For Women.

In the police court this morning with Judge John H. Barnes on the bench, Miss Jennie Garvin, aged 40, formerly of New London, was sentenced to the State Farm for Women that has been established at East Lyme. She was formerly Jennie Penhallow and calling at the home of her mother on the West Side last night she created considerable disturbance. She has been in trouble in New London. She was taken to the State Farm Tuesday by Police and Mrs. Elmer Allen as the law directs that the woman committed to the farm must be taken to the farm by another woman.

There were three cases of drunkenness before the court and two paid fines, but the third case was nolle. A boy charged with stealing a bicycle was discharged as the owner did not wish to press the charge. Anthony Tommano of the state police who was in court charged with technical breach of the peace was allowed to go as he made a counter claim.

RESERVES DECISION IN INJUNCTION CASE

Judge Waller Takes Papers at Hearing of Somers-Stead Case—Civil Engineers Present Testimony as to Ownership of Disputed Land—Extracts From Bulletin Used as Testimony.

In the court room of the court of common pleas in this city Judge Charles S. Waller on Tuesday continued to hear the testimony in the case of William A. Somers, owner, and Constantine J. Stead, defendant. The case is the ownership of the restaurant in the Somers building on Franklin square against George O. Stead, the owner of the Stead block, and P. J. Morley, a tenant in the Stead block.

The suit has been brought to the superior court of New London county to be held on Tuesday in September and the plaintiff seeks to recover damages from the defendants for closing up a chimney in the wall between the Stead and Somers buildings.

The plaintiff, Somers, claims to own the wall in which the chimneys are located, while the defendant, Stead, claims that the wall belongs to him and forms the east wall of his block. Civil Engineer Pitcher testified for the plaintiff and gave it as his opinion from all his surveys and investigations that the wall in question was wholly on the Somers land.

Civil Engineer Chandler testified for the defendants and gave it as his opinion from his investigation and surveys and conditions of the respective properties that the wall in dispute was the property of Mr. Stead and on his land.

Charles D. Noyes testified to knowing about the construction of the Stead building and the Somers building when they were erected in the year 1871 and stated that the wall supporting the Stead building and the roof of the Stead building were up before the Somers building was erected.

Mr. Somers testified that the floor timbers of his building ran into, and were supported by, the wall in question; also that tenants of the Somers building had used the chimney in the wall in connection with their stoves.

Deeds from Mrs. Lanman of Hartford, and Mr. Knapp of Newburyport, Mass., to Mr. Stead of the Stead land and building were introduced in evidence. The deeds were witnesses of the case. They were warranty deeds of the Stead property and showed that no incumbrances existed on that property in the nature of any rights in the disputed wall. It also appeared in the evidence that Mr. Stead for eight years and four months leased to the restaurant people in the Somers building and during that time collected rents from them for such use.

NEW LONDON COUNTY GIRLS TO CAN 80,000 QUARTS.
Junior Food Army Has Also Organized Committees for Work.

Three Junior Canning clubs in New London county have already started their season's activity. The clubs at North Franklin, under the leadership of Mrs. Cox and Mrs. Deane, at East Lyme, under the leadership of Mrs. Frank Palmer, and at the Kimball School, Preston, under the leadership of Miss Bennett, have each held their first meeting at which the members of the clubs were given by Miss Helen Poland, State Girls' Club leader.

Girls' Canning clubs have also been organized by Miss Hallock county club leader in the town of New London, Colchester, North Stonington, Ledyard, and Stonington. Clubs are being organized in other towns and the indications are that the boys and girls of New London county will succeed in canning the 80,000 cases of fruits and vegetables asked of them by the United States Food administration. The Buxton Busy Bees have pledged to can 500 quarts of fruits and vegetables in their home.

That on the termination of that lease in 1914 he ordered the removal of the restaurant to stop using the chimney which order he claims they obeyed for about nine months until the present tenants of the restaurant began to occupy the place; that these tenants began to use the chimney and that he notified them to cease the use of the same; that they disregarded his orders and went on using the chimney for their stoves and that thereupon he (Stead) closed up the chimney at the places where their use was being made.

The present suit against Mr. Stead is brought for damages for his stopping up the chimneys when the plaintiffs brought their suit they obtained an expert mandatory injunction to compel Stead to remove the obstruction to the chimneys and restore them to their former condition.

The case is before Judge Waller at this time on an application of the defendants to have that injunction dissolved and await the final determination of the suit that can only be tried before the superior court.

It is claimed that the chimneys in their construction were designated for the use only of the Stead building. The plaintiff, Somers, claims that the Stead building wall stands wholly on his land and he also claims that he has obtained a legal right to use the chimneys by prescription and long use of them.

Mr. Stead denies that he had any knowledge of the use of the chimneys in the Stead building until about six months after he purchased the property when he discovered a mason making an entry place into the chimney for the insertion of the pipe of the restaurant, which he forbade and later compelled the tenant in the Somers building to acknowledge his right by taking a lease from him for the use of the chimney and the restaurant there.

The counsel in the case, A. M. Brown and Charles V. James for the plaintiffs, and William H. Shields and Joseph T. Fanning for the defendants, have been heard at length and thereupon Judge Waller took the papers and reserved his decision of the case to a later date.

Both parties in the trial of the case made use of the files of The Bulletin and extracts from the same during 1871, which evidence it was claimed showed that the Somers building was not erected until after the construction of the wall of the Stead block.

DR. I. J. MANWARING TO BE HEAD OF MEDICAL UNIT.
Will Sail for France in Charge of Woman's Hospital Corps.

Dr. Ier Jay Manwaring of this city, who has been a practicing physician here for the past 22 years, and for the last two years physician at the Connecticut Soldiers' Home, has been called upon to leave his home and take service as a member of the American woman's hospital corps. Dr. Manwaring expects to sail for Europe about the 15th of August.

During the past spring occurred the successful drive of the American woman's overseas hospital to raise $200,000 to send women physicians to the other side. Since that time many women doctors have enrolled for that service and Dr. Manwaring was one of the first to offer her services and has raised over $5,000 for the overseas service. She has received her commission as first lieutenant.

Lieutenant Manwaring, as she will be called while serving with the American expeditionary forces in France, will have entire charge of the dispensary department in one of the American base hospitals in France. She will leave this country with a newly organized unit over which she will have entire command.

Dr. Manwaring is a graduate of the Women's Medical college of Philadelphia in 1895 and studied at Polytechnic Institute during 1895-96.

COMPRESSED AIR NOT SHUT OFF YET.
Local Users May Be Supplied for a Week or More.

The compressed air plant at Taftville did not shut off the supply of air Monday the 15th, as planned, and will continue to operate Tuesday. That the air will be furnished for this week, and possibly for next week. The plant at Taftville has been taken over by the Eastern Connecticut Power company and will be converted into a hydro-electric plant. Owing to the inaccessible situation of the plant it will be necessary for the contractor who is to make the alterations to cut a road through the Preston woods, and while this is being done and the machinery brought up the plant will continue to furnish air.

SYSTEM TO SECURE VOTES OF SOLDIERS

Duplicate Sets of Ballots to Be Sent to Men at Cantonments and Overseas.

Secretary of State Frederick L. Perry said Monday that he had hopes of the success of the system which had been adopted by his department to secure the vote of soldiers and sailors in the service, in accordance with the law passed at the special session of the general assembly last March. The total number of voters for which provision is to be made is 13,442. This total is made up from the figures furnished by town clerks.

Mr. Perry remarked that there would be, comparatively little difficulty in securing the vote of the soldiers in the different cantonments and of the sailors who are at training stations. The great difficulty will be encountered in obtaining the vote of soldiers and sailors overseas.

Deputy Secretary R. J. Dwyer, in addition to what the law requires, will send to each sailor and soldier, through the mail, a copy of the ballot, containing the seven state tickets nominated so far as he is able to do so from information in regard to their addresses obtained from relatives.

There will be sent to the different commanders an ample supply of ballots for distribution among their Connecticut men and, to guard against the possibility of a mishap, the ballots will be sent in duplicate, the second set of ballots to follow the first in a different vessel.

For information which he has received Mr. Perry understands that the Connecticut soldiers have been well scattered among different military units at the front.

The tabulated lists of voters in the service from the different towns in New London and Windham counties follow:
